News from New Bury Centre

Nothing has been decided so far as to what is happening at the centre. It looks like we will hold the demos at New Bury as well as Thursday night sessions, but all this might change at short notice. The committee have started the search to see if we can find new suitable accommodation and members are welcome to contact a committee member if they can suggest anywhere that would be suitable for our purposes.

Eccles Exhibition

The exhibition was well received by all who attended but there were less artworks sold this year than last year. Lesley has collected all the artworks and they are ready to be picked up from St Jame's. We ask once again for artists to collect as soon as they can as there are no storage facilities at the church.
